Fishermen did not flock to the streams during the second week of the open sea-son. The weather has been cold, many of the streams are full of swift running water, and coaxing the wary trout into baskets is a difficult matter. G. F. Bar ber, Lester Barber and Lawrence Bar-ber caught a string of 63 fine specimens. Orlin Ellis returned with 42, David H. Cooley made a good catch and W. H. Perry secured 44 in New Hampshire Others who report fair luck are Adam Thomas, H. C. Rice, Dr. C. R. Aldrich, William Thayer, Will Pierce, Louis Prefountaine and Daniel J. Stolte.

The first meeting of the committee elected in the annual town meeting to investigate the matter of widening Main night. The committee consists of C. R Crosby, J. Harry Estey and S. A. Rich-mond. Surveys were considered and it was decided to have some blue prints made so that each property owner might know exactly how his property would be effected by the changes, It is believed that the alterations would enhance the value of the existing property. All owners will be asked to give the committee figures on the value of their real estate and the damage which the proposed and the damage which the proposed improvements would cause.

A Brattleboro resident was spoken of as follows in the Springfield Reporter of Saturday: "Rev. E. W. Sharp, the minister assigned by the Vermont Methodist conference to the Springfield church, whose retiring pastor is Rev. William H. Butler, will occupy the pulpit for the first time next Sunday. The people of the church feel that they are especially favored in this assignment, as Rev. Mr. Sharp was the most sought after of any minister attending the conference. for eight years, and the people there would have been very happy to have had him remain for another eight years. His health failed, however, and he has been recuperating for the past three years, although supplying during the past year His present home is Brattleboro. The new pastor and his wife will move into the local parsonage as soon as it can be renovated fo property as a residential section will begin this spring according to present plans. A group of local men including H. C. Rice, H. R. Randall, Dr. A. L. Pettee and C. B. Crowell have acquired the east side of the park property and laid it out into 12 large building lots. Messrs. Rice, Randall, Pettee and C. McRae are planning to erect houses this year and several others intend to join the colony. The section probably will be known as Chestnut hill and it is hoped to develop the entire park property within the next few years. The idea of this year and on that account reasonable prices have been placed on the lots not already taken. The building in this district will add several thousand doloperations here this year, as given on another page in this paper.

L. E. Holden, chairman of the transportation committee of the board of trade, received yesterday a letter from the superintendent of the passenger department of the Boston & Maine rail-road, notifying him that beginning with the summer schedule the train leaving Keene in the morning would start early enough to reach South Vernon at 7.25 and connect at Greenfield at 8 o'clock and connect at Greenfield at 8 o'clock with the Connecticut River special which reaches New York at 12.10. The Cen-tral Vermont road previously had as-sured the committee that if the Boston sured the committee that if the Boston & Maine would start the train from Keene early enough to make the Green-field connection the 7.25 train out of Brattleboro would be started early enough to connect with the Keene train at South Vernon. This will make a de-cided improvement in the service be-tween Brattleboro and New York. The Boston & Maine company also have promised to start the newspaper train out of Boston about an hour earlier, which will bring the Boston and Springfield papers here at 9 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock, the present arriving time.

Father Grecius is a Polish priest and comes here every year at Eastertime to officiate at religious services for the Polish Catholics of Brattleboro and this Polish Catholics of Brattleboro and this locality. Rev. E. C. Fountain, curate of the parish here, conducted the services in Bellows Falls Sunday because of the absence of Rev. Father O'Brien, curate of the parish there. A pretty exhibition of Swedish gymnastics, gymnastic games and dances was witnessed by between 100 and 200 people in Grange hall Saturday night when the Wednesday gymnastic class people in Grange when the Wednesday gymnastic class of girls who have received instruction from Miss Mary Fletcher Cox through the winter, held their last meeting of the season. The various movements of the season. The various movements of the girls, attired in gymnasium suits, the girls, attired in gymnasium suits, were executed with a grace and precisional properties. The various movements of the winter in gymnasium suits, accompanied by Mrs. S. E. Lawton, accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Vandeveer, a companied by Mrs. J. J. Vandeveer, a companied by Miss Florence C. Allen and the companies of the c tion, and not the least pleasing feature was the evident enjoyment which the exercises and games brought to the young performers.

Rev. F. A. Wells preached in the Methodist church Sunday evening the first in a series of sermons on the general theme, "How some Brattleboro people regard the churches." It was a logical and convincing sermon, as applicable to any other community as to Brattleboro. The text was Matthew 12-30: "He that is not with me is against me: and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." Rev. Mr. Wells's theme was "The indifferent man," and he showed that there is no such thing as an indifferent man with respect to the churches. The theme next Sunday evening will be "The critical

The April meeting of Brattleboro chapter, D. A. R., was held in the Brooks House Friday afternoon, Mrs. F. I. Swift presiding in the absence of the regent, Mrs. W. F. Root. Following a plano solo by Miss Marguerite White a paper on "Brattleboro at the time of the Civil war" was given by Mrs. Levi K. Fuller, The paper was devoted largely to Mrs. Fuller's recamp and hospital and incidents associated with the presence of large numbers of soldiers. It was decidedly interesting and each feature of the meeting was

Herbert Cohen and Thomas J. Harding, lawyers in the office of James Donovan of New York, have been in town this week interviewing persons about the railroad wreck which occurred in the rear of the Hooker building Oct. 28, when the "owl" train was "sideswiped," the engine and cars damaged, thrown part way down the bank. Since the accident the New York firm of at-torneys have entered 20 suits, according to Mr. Cohen, against the Boston & Maine railroad for persons who claim to have been injured. The lawyers have talked with several persons in town who went to the scene of the accident di-recty after it happened and who exam-ined the cars and rails and noted other. features of the wreck. It is probable age suits are called in court and Mr. Cohen will try to get depositions from others Mrs. Mary McHale Adams, 50, wife of Frank G. Adams, died Friday morning about 10 o'clock in her home on West street after an ilness of several months with brights disease. She had lived here about 12 years and was well known in this community. She was born in County Mayo, Ireland, and came to this country in 1887, coming directly to this town, where she had since lived. Twenty years where she had since lived. Twenty years ago she was married to John Herbert of Brattleboro and five children were born to them, Miss Mary Herbert, Miss Catherine Herbert, Miss Bridget Herbert, Joseph Herbert and William Herbert, all of whom survive. Mr. Herbert died in 1995. In 1907 she was married to Frank G. Adams of this town, who survives. She was a member of St. Michael's Roman Catholic parish and the St. Cecilia Altar society. Prayers were offered in the church Sunday morning offered in the church Sunday morning Catholic cemetery. The bearers were John Fleming, Martin Burke, John Cav-

The meeting for conference teachers and officers of the Baptist Bi-ble school Wednesday evening was one of the most interesting and most largely attended of the series of monthly con-ferences which will close next month. Supper was served in the social rooms of the church at 7 o'clock, after which adjournment was taken to the pariors where Miss Josephine Toedt and Fred S. Knight rendered vocal selections. This was followed by a discussion of problems and work, also plans for chil-dren's day. A full and free discussion has taken place at these meetings and they have been very helpful.

Burglars attempted to break into Harry B. Haus's grocery store about 11.20 Wednesday night, but were frightened away by Mrs. Georgie L. Sears. Mrs. Sears was in her apartments in the Frost building on Main street in which the store is located and she heard the noise of falling glass in the rear of the store. She went to a window, but apparently was heard by those who were trying to gain entrance and they ran away. Mrs. Sears saw Policeman E. G. Worden and he made an examination of the rear of the premises. A pane of glass in the rear entrance had been broken and the pieces were scattered about the floor near the door. The bur-

Since Irah D. Spaulding's return from the Curtiss Aviation school Diego, Cal., with an aviator's license he has been urgently requested by many friends to make his first flight in the East in Brattleboro, his home town. He is the only licensed aviator in Vermont and local people are anxious that he give his first exhibition here. Mr. Spaulding went to New York last week and returned Wednesday. While in New York he supervised the construction of his new aeroplane, which will be a double capacity surface army type plane, with a carrying capacity of two passengers, equipped with a powerful 60-70 h.p. motor. It is probable that Mr. Spaulding will decide to have the machine shipped to this town and give an exhibition in May.

As a special attraction at the supper of cold meats and salads in the Congregational vestry Tuesday evening an entertainment was announced, and a large number enjoyed both the supper and program. The latter consisted of a plano solo by Miss Marguerite White, selections by a male quartet consisting of W. A. Gilbert, W. S. Stearns, F. C. Adams and A. L. Clapp, a piano numtenor solos by Walter S. Stearns, companied by Miss Clapp. Mrs. I ton's first selection was costume and sang with Irish brogue, making a very pleasing impression the numbers were received with enthu siasm. The supper also was excellent.

For five minutes Thursday morning not a wheel moved, not a telegraph in strument clicked, not a person perform ed any work on the Grand Trunk rai road, its subsidary roads or its steam ship lines. Everyone in the employ the rallroad had been notified that tween 11.30 o'clock and 11.35 o'clock business was to be suspended as a mark of respect to the late president of the railroad, Charles M. Hays, who was drowned in the Titanic disaster. When the minute was reached engines stop-ped, steamships began to float without motive power on oceans and rivers, tel-egraph instruments became silent and all the employes of the road for the full five minutes thought of the man who had been their chief and under whom everything was quiet during the five minutes. In the freight yard the shifter stopped its ceaseless task of pushing and hauling cars. In the freight office clerks suspended their duties, and all along the line everything was still. It was a wonderful tribute to a man whose memory is beloved by the men who came under him in their daily work. Class No. 10 of the Baptist Bible school held its annual meeting with Mrs. Mary E. Food manufacturers are searching the world for cheap substitutes for some of the articles now on the market, and are turning their attention chiefly toward tropical products, because in the tropics the problem of production cost is not very serious. The bureau of manufactures learns that American breakfactures learns that American break fast food manufacturers are investi-gating the taro plant of Hawaii, which long has been used for food in the is-lands. Flaked cassava, which has been sold in India for years, is likely to be introduced here, and from the Domin-ican republic flaked and crisped bananas and plantains are being shipped here.
